SERIES BACKGROUND and DESCRIPTION:

This Jim French-created and produced series premiered in 1997 as Kincaid, The Strangeseeker and has recently undergone some changes. The series title is now The Strangeseeker.

Originally, the series dealt with stories about Michael Kincaid, a television investigative reporter who specializes in stories that generally fall into the categories of strange or unexplained events. His employer was The Investigative Channel, a fictional cable news station. Kincaid was assisted by his videographer, Shelly Mars. He often had strained relationships with his bosses, first, Fred "Lippy" Lippman and later, Randall "Biggy" Bigelow. Bigelow is played by Richard Sanders of WKRP In Cincinnati fame.

With the broadcast of "The Beginning Of The Beginning" on 10/28/2012 the building of the Investigative Channel was destroyed and the three primary characters were temporarily out of work. Randolph Carter of Miskatonic University (an institution that first appeared in the stories of H. P. Lovecraft) revealed to them that the University has owned the Investigative Channel for years; mainly because Michael Kincaid was a "psychic lodestone (a magnet) whose brain waves are attuned to supernatural phenomena." Kincaid, Shelly, and Bigelow were offered jobs with the University. By the end of the episode, only Shelly had accepted the offer.

In the episode "Treasure Trove," which was broadcast on 07/21/2013, the audience learns that Kincaid, Shelly, and Bigelow were working for Miskatonic University. Michael's primary function was to investigate of psychic and supernatural phenomena, Shelly continued to work with Michael, and Bigelow was in charge of the University's library and also supports Kincaid's investigations. Gone were the previous broadcast journalism aspects of the plot lines.

Here's a sample story line from an early episode of Kincaid, The Strangeseeker. In "The Place," Kincaid investigates a series of robberies in which the crooks always fire a Tommy Gun, but there are no bullet holes and no bullet casings. The fingerprints left at the crime scenes are those of criminals that have been dead for 30 years. Just your nice, neat, typical story?

The Strangeseeker aired as part of Imagination Theatre on KIXI in Seattle and was syndicated internationally as part of Imagination Theatre on radio stations in the United States and New Zealand. It was also heard around the world over the Internet via the websites of various radio affiliates and Jim French Productions:

Additional Jim French series that aired on the syndicated Imagination Theatre include: The Adventures Of Harry Nile; The Hilary Caine Mysteries; Raffles, The Gentleman Thief; Kerides, The Thinker, The Further Adventures Of Sherlock Holmes; The Classic Adventures Of Sherlock Holmes and several occasional series.

Previously, the series was heard in the Seattle area as part of:

Imagination Theatre on KNWX (03/26/2000 - 01/05/2003),

THE PEMCO Imagination Theatre on KNWX (02/21/1999 - 03/19/2000), and

AUDITION/PILOT SHOW and MISCELLANEA:

The Kincaid character first appeared in a KIRO Mystery Playhouse episode, "The Man Who Died Twice," on 02/11/1995. In this episode, the main character was Robert Kincaid, an investigative reporter for the fictional New York Bulletin newspaper. He investigated the death of a terminally-ill patient at a nursing home. His investigation turns up much more than just a possible case of euthanasia. Terry Rose also played Kincaid in this episode.

The following background information was provided by Larry Albert of Jim French Productions. "The episode 'The Man Who Died Twice' was not a pilot per se. After the show was recorded and aired, several of Jim's friends saw the potential of this character for a series. However, we were all thinking of a newspaper series. When Jim decided to develop the show, we were all surprised to see where he was taking it. I guess you could say that 'The Man Who Died Twice' is a de facto pilot."

THE FAMILY KINCAID

The investigation of strange phenomena and unusual stories ran in the blood of the Kincaid family.

In The Adventures of Harry Nile 04/10/2011 episode, "Fifteen Years Later," Harry encountered a strange character named Flying Officer Captain Robert Kincaid in England during World War II. Captain Kincaid was obsessed with conspiracy theories and unexplained phenomena. When Harry met him 15 years later, Kincaid was searching for the lost continent of Atlantis. He told Harry, ". . . There's more to this world than meets the eye and I'm going to prove it. And if I die trying, then my children and my children's children will carry on where I left off." At least two of Captain Kincaid's progeny have followed in his footsteps: his sons Robert Jr. and Michael.

In the 10/28/2012 episode, "The Beginning Of The Beginning," listeners learned that Michael Kincaid is the brother of Robert Kincaid Jr. who was the investigative reporter in "The Man Who Died Twice."

RECORDING SESSIONS:

The de facto pilot/audition and many of the early episodes of this series were recorded before a LIVE audience.

Through January 2000, recording sessions were held at the Museum of History and Industry in Seattle.

Jim French Productions currently records shows for Imagination Theatre in front of a LIVE audience every two to three months at the KPC. Usually, episodes of The Adventures Of Harry Nile and The Further Adventures Of Sherlock Holmes and/or The Classic Adventures Of Sherlock Holmes are recorded at each session.
